OF RUSSIAN ACADEMY OF SCIENCES

Building of L.D. Landau Institute for Theoretical Physics in Chernogolovka, Moscow region.

On September 14, 1964, the USSR State Committee for the Coordination of Scientific Research and the Presidium of the USSR Academy of Sciences signed a joint resolution to establish the Institute for Theoretical Physics (ITP) of the USSR Academy of Sciences. Thus, on September 14, 2024, the ITP celebrated the 60th anniversary of its founding. A distinguished group of Lev Davidovich Landau's disciples joined the scientists and researchers of the newly established institute, and, since 1968, the Institute has rightfully borne the named of L.D. Landau. This November 2025 issue of Physics–Uspekhi contains reviews and papers highlighting a number of the Institute's achievements over the past period and some of the current research at the ITP. The editorial board and editorial council of Physics – Uspekhi congratulate Institute personnel on this glorious anniversary and wish them continued outstanding success, enhancing the international reputation of the L.D. Landau Institute for Theoretical Physics!
