The Editorial Board and the Staff of Uspekhi Fizicheskikh Nauk offer their warm greetings to the Deputy Editor-in-Chief Sergei Georgievich Suvorov on the occasion of his 80th birthday.

Sergei Georgievich Suvorov has made a major contribution to Soviet scientific publishing in his post of Editor-in-Chief and Director of Gostekhizdat Press and, later, Editor-in-Chief of Fizmatgiz Press.

His great experience accumulated over almost half a century in the field of publishing, and his adherence to the traditions of our Journal, have been the basis for S. G. Suvorov's role in the evolution of the Uspekhi Fizicheskikh Nauk as we know it today.

His unfailing interest in the philosophical and methodological problems of physics and in the history of physics has been reflected in the pages of our Journal by his numerous papers, and in the great effort that has been necessary to maintain the various departments of the Journal at a high scientific and ideological level.

The Editorial Board and the Staff of the Journal wish Sergei Georgievich good health and happiness as well as further success in his publishing work.

SERGEI GEORGIEVICH SUVOROV
